

Emergency homework for Year 1

Just in case we have severe weather, here are a variety of homework topics you could try at home

- Please create a poster showing me everything you know about 'light and dark'. Think about the light sources we have been looking at, the coats we have designed and the visit from Explorer Dome. Can you tell me everything you know by making a poster?
- You may also like to visit www.ictgames.co.uk and have a go at playing some numeracy games or google Gordon's ITPs and play some money games. You could also have a go at seeing whether you can recall your number bonds to 10 and try counting in 2's and 5's (this is something we all need to practise).
- Make a Christmas stocking and give it some patterns that are repeating (ie star, circle, square, triangle, star, circle, square, triangle). See if you can also repeat the colours.
- We have been practising telling the time and ordering the days of the week: could you design a diary for the week and tell me what you do on certain days of the week, including times (to the hour and half past)?
